- Print and fill out this form as completely as you can.
• Remove all miscellaneous items and accessories from your instrument case and make sure your instrument fits securely inside the case. Pack your instrument case in a box, at least four to five inches taller and wider than your case, and fill the surrounding space with packing materials so the case is surrounded by packing and is suspended securely inside the box. Include this form in the box before shipping.
• Insure your instrument and choose two-way shipping from your carrier of choice. You are responsible for shipping and return shipping charges.
• Contact Bandman to let us know that you are sending your instrument for repair.
• Once we receive the instrument, Bandman will contact you with a free repair quote before doing any work.
